

HERE'S HOW:

Using your Chromebook touchpad

You can use your Chromebook's touchpad to right-click, switch between tabs, and more. Here's how it works:

Move the pointer	Move your finger across the touchpad.
Click	Press or tap the lower half of the touchpad.
Right-click	Press or tap the touchpad with two fingers. You can also press Alt, then click with one finger.
Scroll	Place two fingers on the touchpad and move them up and down to scroll vertically, or left and right to scroll horizontally.
Move between pages	To go back to a page that you were just on, swipe left with two fingers. To go forwards to a page that you were just on, swipe right with two fingers.
See all open windows	To see all open windows, swipe up with three fingers. To close it, swipe down with three fingers.
Close a tab	Select the tab, click the X that appears on the tab
Open a link in a new tab	Point to the link, then tap with two fingers and select 'Open in new tab'.
Switch between tabs	If you have multiple browser tabs open, swipe left or right with three fingers.
Open or close overview	To open overview, swipe up with three fingers. To close it, swipe down with three fingers.
Switch between virtual desks	If you have multiple desks open, swipe left or right with four fingers. (IS THIS POSSIBLE ON CHROMEBOOK?)
Drag and drop	Using one finger, click and hold the item that you want to move. Drag the item to its new spot, then release your finger.
